In each case a special steamboat took the company to Grunau, a charming riverside resort. An informal lunch in groups was followed by a base-ball game, sack, egg and three-legged races, and other competitions, announced by a program that Barnum and Buffalo Bill combined could not have outdone. Then followed dinner in the grove, with speeches. On the first occasion then were 260 feasters; on the second, 400; Consul General Mason presiding and Rev. Dr. Dickey saying grace.
