Excerpt from A Short History of India India is inhabited by various races, who entered the country at different periods Of time and from different directions. The black Dravidians, inhabiting the Deccan and Southern India, came from the east at some early period long before the begin ning of history. The Mongolians, inhabiting the north-eastern corners Of India, came from Mongolia and China through Tibet and the south-eastern provinces of the Chinese empire. Aryans - The Aryans, who form the vast majority Of the in uential classes, entered India from the west, at a time esti mated at from 4000 b.c. To 1500 The Shemitic races came in the train Of Muhammadan conquest from the west. From beyond the north-western corner Of India, at various periods of Indian history, there came men Of various races. None of these was very numerous. Those who came first have merged into the Aryan population, but those who came later can still be traced as distinct. And, last of all, within the last four hundred years, came the Aryan races from Europe by sea. In the beginning, commerce was their great Object but they all strove for supremacy by sea and by land. None, however, achieved so marked a success as the British. Dravidians. - Oi the history Of the Dravidian races we know almost nothing. Scholars think that they were the earliest settlers in India. The vast majority have adopted Aryan civilization, and the rest are still to be found everywhere in hills and jungles in Central and Southern India. But they seem to have had their last kingdoms in the extreme south of India, in the Pandya and Kerala countries, where property descends...
