Excerpt from A Development Plan for Jacksonville, North Carolina It is an urban area in which the automobile is king and where people are looking for the city to provide fire and police protection, schools, playgrounds and utilities. Jacksonville has big city problems related to major streets and traffic, land use and zoning, bad housing and disease. During the last few years as these urban problems became more apparent the city contracted with the Division of Community Planning, of the Department of Conservation and Development to make a study of the different aspects of growth and development in Jacksonville. This report outlines the different facts found in this study which have been used in the preparation of the Development Plan.
